

Jury To Decide Life Or Death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan is guilty of first-degree murder for assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Now, the same jury that convicted him must decide whether he lives or dies.

The penalty phase of Sirhan's trial begins Monday and is expected to last no more than a day or two. The jury will choose one of two sentences: life in prison or death in the gas chamber. A life sentence precludes parole for at least seven years.

Unknown until he murdered the 42-year-old presidential candidate last June, Sirhan tried—even after the first-degree verdict Thursday—to put testimony about the Arab-Israeli conflict into the court record.

Turned To Hate
Sirhan, passionately partisan to the Arab cause, said his love for Kennedy turned to hate when he decided the New York senator was pro-Israel.

Defense counsel Grant B. Cooper asked to bring witnesses representing Arab countries to the penalty phase "to show the surrounding circumstances" of Sirhan's youth in war-torn Palestine "so the jury can understand the situation and un-

Job Corps Graduates Earn Extra $1,000 Says Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new study that says Job Corps graduates earn $1,000 a year more than nontrainees has added fuel to the controversy swirling over President Nixon's plan to reduce the training program drastically.

The 82-page study, prepared for the Office of Economic Opportunity by polster Louis Harris, was presented Thursday to the House Education and Labor Committee where Democrats are fighting Nixon's order to shut down 59 of the 113 Job Corps centers.

Harris, who said he was paid

$300,000 to prepare the study, said it was the most exhaustive review ever made of the Job Corps.

Positive Impact

The study concentrated on the earnings of Job Corps enrollees before and after their training compared to youths in similar age groups who received only part of the training or dropped out of the corps.

Refer to page eight story on protests to closing Northern's Job Corps program.

Harris said one of the most significant findings in the study was that earnings of Job Corps graduates six months after their training averaged $1,114 a year higher than before they entered the program. Those who dropped out were earning only $685 a year more than six months later.

"By any measure," said Harris, "the study shows that the Job Corps has had a positive impact on these youths."

But, he said, the program's impact fades and by the end of a year after graduation the earning power of those who complete the course and those who drop out is virtually even. He suggested a follow-up program to help continue the advance.

Harris did not offer his own judgment as to whether Nixon's closing order should stand.

Drop 59 Centers

"The question you have to answer," he told the congressmen, "is what it is worth to produce this kind of impact? What we have shown is that, indeed, there is an impact."

Nixon has ordered the elimination of the 59 centers as an economy move. He said the Job Corps as now constituted and operated by OEO is too expensive and the results do not justify the cost. He has proposed establishing 30 day training centers to substitute for the rural live-in conservation camps.

However, Rep. Carl D. Perkins, the Kentucky Democrat who heads the Education and Labor Committee said "If all the members of Congress could get the benefit of this report we could rest our case on it."

Perkins, who is leading the fight to head off the closings, added that "I hope the administration will take a long look at this most enlightening survey."

Similar Increase

Harris also said an important finding was the rate of achievement of black youths, who make up a majority of the Job Corps. The study, he said, "gives the lie to the notion that black people can't make it in our society. This shows that, given the same opportunity as whites, they can achieve a similar increase in wages."

Harris said the study also refutes the notion that any increase in a teen-ager's earnings results from his simply growing older. Job Corps graduates under 18 experienced a 40-cent hourly increase in their wages while dropouts of the same age advanced only 9 cents an hour.

A major weakness of the program as demonstrated by the study, he said, is that the impact of the Job Corps fades after about six months and by the end of a year there is little difference between those who completed the course and those who dropped out.

Beginning, Not End

Harris attributed the drop-off to the fact most ex-corpsemen went back into the same "world of disadvantage, discrimination and don't care" from which they had started. He said a follow-up program of guidance and counseling was needed to help the ex-corpsemen keep advancing.

"The Job Corps is a beginning, not an end," he said. "What we see here is a small ray of light after six months that begins to be smothered after 12 months."

Harris started the study last January and based his findings on interviews with 11,000 ex-corpsemen, their families and employers. He said the review was finished just a few days ago.

Interest High In Nixon Apartment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon says about 60 bids have been received for the family's Fifth Avenue apartment in New York.

The flat, a 12-room cooperative, went on the market soon after the Nixons moved to the White House.

Nixon recently valued it at $166,860, but real estate men say it probably will bring a high bid of $200,000 or more.

Flood Loss At $5 Million; Predict Worst To Come

By The Associated Press
High waters continued to wash across the Midwestern flood zone today.

Volunteers, including a group of convicts, worked long hours to stem the rising rivers that had forced more than 15,000 persons from their homes.

Property losses already topped $5 million with the worst possibly still to come.

The federal government prepared to make disaster loans to hard-hit businesses and public facilities.

Among the volunteer flood fighters were 15 inmates of the Minnesota State Prison in Stillwater. They packed sandbags to help hold off the St. Croix River.

Said Stillwater Mayor Ray Smith, "They have put in between 60 and 100 hours doing the hardest work. We fell in love with them."

Typhoid Shots

In Dubuque, Iowa, 100 high school volunteers were given typhoid shots before reporting to help extend a six-mile dike.

With few exceptions dikes were holding well in the Dakotas and Minnesota but in Hudson, Wis., a Willow River dike appeared to be weakening under pressure.

The hardest hit of all major towns was Minot, N.D. More than 12,000 persons had been evacuated and some $3.5 million in damages had been reported.

Minot was one of a number of towns feeling the effects of a surge by the Souris River, which climbed about two feet in 24 hours as the runoff from melted snow in Canada began to arrive in heavier volume.

Crest Next Week

A crest of 21 feet was predicted for sometime next week. The river stood at the 17-foot level Thursday.

The Office of Emergency Planning in Washington said President Nixon was expected to act soon to designate disaster areas. They would then become eligible for federal funds to repair roads and utilities and for removing debris.

The Small Business Administration expects applications for loans to businesses in Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin after flood damage can be assessed. Alma, Prairie du Chien and La Crosse, Wis., braced for higher than expected Mississippi River crests.

Red Wing

The Weather Bureau said the waters will rise up to a foot higher than originally predicted because masses of debris had been removed from a lock and a dam at Hastings, Minn., causing an upsurge of the Mississippi.

Also in Wisconsin, Fountain City had much of its downtown section under several feet of Mississippi water and several bridges in the western part of the state were closed.

Upstream, the Mississippi receded slowly in St. Paul as the crest reached Red Wing, Minn., 50 miles to the south.

Refrain In Using DDT: Milliken

LANSING (AP)—Gov. William Milliken today asked everyone to refrain from using DDT, and commended the Michigan Agriculture Commission for initiating steps to ban the pesticide.

"I am asking citizens, retailers and manufacturers to voluntarily refrain from using or selling DDT currently in their possession," Milliken said. "I expect an announcement will be made soon on how DDT supplies should be disposed of."

The governor urged that DDT not be disposed of by conventional means.

"I am concerned that it not get into our waters," he said. Milliken, who will be chairman of a five-state governor's conference on pesticides in Chicago Sunday, also said "The Health Department emphasized that the current levels of DDT in soil, in water and in fish pose no demonstrated threat to human health."

In reviewing the report, Milliken said, "I have concluded that the risk of further use of DDT is far greater than the benefit."

Milliken's statement followed a plea by the director of natural resources that the commission ban all hard pesticides such as dieldrin and heptachlor.

"I am charging my environmental quality council to meet within the next 10 days to lay plans to begin to deal with pesticides other than DDT," Milliken added.

At the governor's conference Sunday at the O'Hare Inn, Milliken said he would propose the federal government authorize $200,000 be made available to supplement pesticide monitoring programs undertaken by states bordering the Great Lakes.

"This will enable us to have constant monitoring of the upper Great Lakes to keep a continuous check on pesticide levels," Milliken said.

The Agriculture Commission announced Wednesday it would take steps to cancel registrations of DDT.

"This means that after a 30-day period of advance notice, DDT cannot be shipped into Michigan, nor can it be manufactured for sale in Michigan," Milliken said.

Milliken also met today with Dr. Gordon Guyer, head of the Michigan State University pesticide research center. Guyer said he reviewed research being undertaken to find substitutes for chlorinated hydrocarbons or alternative means of controlling pests that presently are kept in check by the so-called hard pesticides.

Instant Replay May Save Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — Television instant replay, the delight of millions of sports fans, is establishing itself as a potentially lifesaving aid in some of the nation's major hospitals.

The same type of device that lets you see how the swiftness of a football player's especially valuable in diagnosing ailments of the heart, where action happens faster than in any other organ.

By watching as the fleeting action shown by fluoroscopic X rays is rerun over and over on a nearby television screen, the doctor can confirm within seconds what he thought he saw or may have missed the first time, then decide if immediate surgery or further examination is necessary.

In contrast, standard X-ray pictures and movie film must be developed, so a diagnosis based on them alone can't be made for at least an hour.

Col. Robert J. Hall, chief of cardiology services at the Army's Walter Reed General Hospital, says the technique is a major help in diagnosing the trouble in infants born with heart defects.

"In the tiny heart of an infant," he said, "the diagnostic dye displaying the anatomy of the heart's interior can race through the heart in about one second. But you can look at the instant replay 10 or 12 times and make a decision as to what step to take next before getting the movie films and X-ray stills."

Demos Want Bigger School Aid Increase

LANSING (AP) — A Senate Republican proposal calling for $349.6 million in state school aid—some $5 million over Gov. William Milliken's budget recommendation—drew criticism Thursday from Democrats who seek a bigger increase.

The measure was voted out of the Senate Education Committee, despite work already in progress on a House version including $57 million more than Milliken proposed.

Senate education chairman Anthony Stamm, R-Kalamazoo, said he hoped action of the upper chamber would force speedier consideration in the House, which traditionally acts first on the school aid bill.

"Michigan school children and persons involved in educating those children have been drowned in the flood of political bickering in the House," Stamm said.

Political Honor

"It was not our intention to idly stand by and watch politics create more havoc in education."

The Senate Republican move could be aimed at stemming increases in Milliken's budget by the Democratic-controlled House observers suggested.

Senate Minority Leader Sander Levin, D-Berkley, termed the Senate proposal "only a minor variation on the governor's basically inadequate theme."

The bill is "a hasty attempt to build a structure for school aid before the House acts on this matter," he said.

Levin and Democratic Sens. Coleman Young of Detroit and James Gray of Warren — both members of the education committee—criticized the bill because it "does not attack in any major way the problem of urban education."

Changes Priorities

Gray was among those voting to report the bill from committee. Young was absent for the vote.

The Stamm proposal re-arranges Milliken's priorities to add $7.8 million to the basic school aid formula, $3 million to inner city or "high tax levy" districts and $1.2 million to community programs of aid to the underprivileged.

Included in the $12 million total increase are the $5 million over Milliken's proposal, another $5 million taken from his suggested grant for remedial reading and $2 million from the amount he proposed for special education, Stamm said.

Governor Hopes For Progress In Calumet Strike

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has expressed hopes some progress may be made toward settlement of the eight-month old Upper Peninsula copper strike at a meeting Monday in Washington.

"It is difficult to be very optimistic," Milliken said. "But I deeply hope those involved in the Monday meeting will do all they possibly can to successfully resolve the issues."

Milliken said there is "great danger" that the entire Calumet and Hecla Mining Co. operation at Calumet may close.

"The strike has gone beyond the tragic point for too many people in the Calumet area," he said. "The strike, both in economics and human dignity, has exacted a heavy toll."

The governor said he was encouraged by the apparent good faith of both sides and the willingness of both top level management and union level representatives to confer.

Attending as his own representatives, Milliken said, will be Robert Howlett, chairman of the State Labor Mediation Board; Walter Quillico, of the board's mediation division, and Joseph Thibodeau, his assistant legal advisor.

Officials Lack Clues To Five Sex Murders

YPSILANTI (AP)—Teams of detectives continued scouring rural areas and knocking on doors today in hopes of tracing the killer or killers of five girls within 21 months.

Officials said, however, they still lacked any solid clues. Sheriff Douglas Harvey of Washtenaw County publicly appealed to "all young women to stay off the streets unless they are accompanied by somebody until we clear this up."

The latest victim was 13-year-old Ypsilanti girl, Dawn Basom, whose body was found Wednesday.

The sheriff said similarities in the slayings indicated the same person or group of persons may have been responsible for four of the five killings.

None Raped

Officials noted that the four mentioned by Harvey were found nude or almost nude. The bodies showed signs of sexual molestation, but none of the four girls had been raped, officials said. Three were cut or slashed with a sharp instrument.

All five bodies were found in rural sections within a radius of less than 10 miles of each other.

The four killings which Harvey believes may have been connected were those of Miss Basom, who was slain Tuesday night; Marilyn Skelton, 16, of Romulus, found March 25; was fully clothed and had not Joan E. Scheil, 20, an Eastern Michigan coed, found in July 1968, and Mary Fleszar, 19, an EMU coed, found in August 1967.

The fifth victim Miss Jane Mixer, a 22-year-old University of Michigan Law School student, whose body was found March 21 in a cemetery near Detroit north-west of Ypsilanti, Miss Mixer was fully clothed and had not been raped. She had been shot several times in the head.

"If any one knows anything or suspects anything, for God's sake, call us," said Sgt. Robert Britton of the sheriff's office.

In the last two years, deputies have checked out more than 50 tips unsuccessfully. Britton said the tips were generally supplied by persons "who know somebody kind of strange."

The killings have created waves of fear among residents and students in Ypsilanti and six miles west of Ann Arbor where the University of Michigan is located.

The lack of clues has spurred widespread speculation as to who the killer or killers might be, with most viewpoints tending toward a psychotic Eastern Michigan University male student or campus hanger-on.

Of College Crowd

"It is probably a safe assumption," said psychiatrist Dr. Ames Robey, "that the murderer was either a student or one of the fringe people who remain with the college crowd, even though they aren't enrolled."

Robey, director of the state center for Forensic Psychiatry at Ypsilanti State Hospital, said the person likely would be around the age of a college student because "this type of girl is unlikely to be picked up by somebody 35 or 40 years old."

President Calls Attack On Plane Deliberate Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon ordered today continuation of reconnaissance plane flights near North Korea and declared "they will be protected."

Nixon reported the flights had been discontinued after the shooting down of one of the unarmed planes Tuesday by North Korean jets.

Then he said: "I have today ordered that these flights be continued. They will be protected. That is not a threat. It is merely a statement of fact."

Nixon told his fifth news conference as President, in response to the first question, that the North Korean attack on the EC121 had been "unprovoked, deliberate, without warning."

Mission Canceled

He reported the plane was flying away from North Korea at the time of the attack because its mission had been "aborted", that is it had been canceled.

Presumably the cancellation was ordered because U.S. radar had picked up the take-off of two MIG fighter planes from a North Korean field.

The plane, Nixon said, had never gone closer than 40 miles to the Korean coast and at the time of the attack was 90 miles from North Korea over the international sea.

The reason for the reconnaissance flights, Nixon said, is the threats and hostile actions against South Korea by North Korea.

He noted the United States has 56,000 troops in South Korea and said the threats against South Korea are also threats against those troops. It is the responsibility of commanders to do everything necessary to protect them, he added.

Part Of Strategy

Nixon pictured the reconnaissance flights as part of the defense strategy for those forces. He said "we have had a policy of reconnaissance flights for 20 years" and reported there had been 190 such flights this year in the North Korean area.

The shooting down of the plane Tuesday apparently cost 31 American lives. Nixon apparently ruled out earlier this week any military retaliation—such as an air strike against the North Korean base from which the fighter planes took off.

He decided instead on a protest directly to North Korea.

Prior to his 11:30 a.m. EST news conference today, the President ordered a protest issued against the "calculated act of aggression" by North Korea in shooting down the unarmed EC121 reconnaissance plane over the Sea of Japan last Tuesday.

Protest

The protest, delivered at a 46-minute meeting at the Panmunjom truce site earlier today, was the first official U.S. reaction since the plane was downed and the 31 crewmen apparently lost.

The relatively mild-worded statement, which called on North Korea "to prevent similar incidents in the future," had left unanswered questions about what if any retaliation the United States might make and how future reconnaissance flights would be protected.

Until today's news conference, broadcast live by radio and television, Nixon himself had not spoken publicly about the incident.

Maintain Calm

The presidential silence and the calculated effort to maintain an official calm after the loss of the plane was reflected to a degree in the Panmunjom protest, which contained fewer blistering words than in past incidents.

When the USS Pueblo was captured 15 months ago, the Johnson administration called the seizure a "heinous crime" committed by "North Korean gangsters."

Administration sources suggested the lower-keyed tone of the Panmunjom protest reflected a difference between Nixon and Johnson administration approaches rather than any U.S.-North Korean deal to play down the episode.

The timing of the U.S. protest at Panmunjom was pushed on Site Change Unlikely:

Design Post Office For West-Side Site

By CLINT DUNATHAN

The plea of merchants for reconsideration of the Post Office Department decision to locate a new Escanaba post office on the west side of the city, and the City Council's effort toward "political persuasion" for a site change are unlikely to be successful.

The site decision was made many months ago by the Post Office Department after a series of meetings with Escanaba representatives, including the Council and committees of the Chamber of Commerce.

Some of the discussions were privately held and when a Chamber committee invited a representative of the Daily Press to attend a meeting with Robert Matthews, real estate officer of the Post Office Department's regional office, Chicago, Matthews refused to discuss the subject if the Daily Press reporter were allowed to be present.

The Chamber of Commerce sought unsuccessfully to find a site in the downtown area that would meet the requirements of the Post Office Department. The factor of cost seemed the major problem.

The City Council, in meetings with Matthews, came to the understanding that if a suitable site — suitable to the Post Office Department that is — were not found there would be no new post office building for Escanaba.

Mayor Cecil B. Chase last night said the Council had been led to believe that if the new post office were not located downtown, there would be a substation downtown — "and then we were told this could not be done."

Chase said land prices for a downtown site were above those considered "policy" by the Department; Councilman Edward J. Cox said the Department

Press Advised Of Latest Plan For Post Office

E. P. Gailmard, director, Engineering and Facilities Division, regional office of the Post Office Department, Chicago, today reported to the Escanaba Daily Press by letter:

"The design for this (Escanaba) new office will be started shortly and in due time an invitation for bids will follow.

"Because of the backlog of work in our Engineering Branch it is impossible at this time to provide you with a firm schedule on this work.

"You may be sure that when we solicit bids your office will be given all details regarding the new building."

The new building will be constructed at the southeast corner of N. 26th and N 1st Ave. on a 61,000 square-foot site optioned from the Walch Development Co., Escanaba. The purchase price is $21,000.

The site, near U.S. 2-41 and M-35 highways, meets "operational and realty criteria," the Department reports.

The proposed building will have 14,218 square feet of floor space, 2,250 feet of platform for mail loading, and 16,800 feet of space for parking.

wanted a location where there was better access for trucks; and Councilman Robert Bink pointed out that Henry H. Dubbelde, Chamber of Commerce downtown development committee chairman, was still seeking to have the post office site in the downtown area.

"If we can get that post office downtown I would like to see it there," said Cox.

George Harvey, city manager, said "quite a few" downtown sites were considered before the selection of the site was made west of 23rd St. and N. 26th St. and 1st Ave. N.

The Council's attention was directed to the subject last night by Robert Mosenfelder, Escanaba merchant, and Harold "Pat" Gasman, businessman and former councilman.

The Council approved a motion to address letters to U.S. Senators Hart and Griffin and to Congressman Ruppe in an effort to influence the Post Office Department to change from a west-side to a downtown site for the new post office.

Needy To Get Food Packets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, moving to meet some of the problems turned up by a Senate probe of hunger in the capital, will provide special food packets for some 45,000 needy mothers and children.

The decision to supply $3 million worth of "food for health" packets in Washington, similar to a program instituted earlier in 78 smaller communities, was sponsored by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and announced Thursday in his office by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin.

It enabled the Republican administration to seize the initiative on the hunger problem, which until now has been held by a Democratic-controlled Senate committee headed by George S. McGovern, D-S.D.

Javits, senior Republican on the committee, moved into the situation after reportedly becoming upset earlier in the week when the administration's revised budget failed to add anything to government food programs except $15 million for nutrition education.

Using his influence behind the scenes, he arranged for Hardin to make the announcement within hours after the committee closed three days of hearings on hunger problems in Washington.

Brown, Hoholik Heading Cisler Center Campaign

SAULT STE. MARIE—Appointment of two prominent Upper Peninsula men to head the fund-raising campaign for the Walker Cisler College Center on the campus of Lake Superior State College here was announced today by Dr. Kenneth J. Shouldice, chancellor of the college.

Prentiss M. Brown of St. Ignace, will serve as honorary chairman of the campaign and Frank S. Hoholik, of Manistique, as chairman.

"The Walker Cisler College Center, in addition to being the first building on the Lake Superior State College campus for which contributions are being sought outside the local community, will be the heart of campus activities," Hoholik stated.

"It will also serve as a much-needed conference and activities center for the entire eastern half of the Upper Peninsula. As such it will be a fitting tribute to Walker Cisler, whose contributions to Michigan are legion. We are confident his many friends and a large number of others who know of his record of service will join in making possible this building, named in his honor," Hoholik said.

Cisler, a resident of Grosse Pointe Park, is board chairman of the Detroit Edison Co. Brown served two terms in the House of Representatives and one in the U. S. Senate. He has been chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority since its creation in 1950. Hoholik is president of the Manistique Pulp & Paper Co., and a leading figure in forest management in the Upper Peninsula. All three men have been closely associated with efforts to strengthen the economy of the region.

The building to be named for Cisler will cost $1 million, half of which will be raised through the campaign.

Ripon Chaplain, Former Coach, To Speak Here

Rev. Jerry Thompson, football coach at Manistique High School in 1946-47 and presently Chaplain at Ripon College, will speak at the annual Father and Son Banquet of Immanuel Lutheran Church next Thursday.

Rev. Thompson also will narrate a film of the Ripon-Beloit football game last fall in which his son, Steve, set a Midwest Conference record by scoring five touchdowns.

Non-members of Immanuel Lutheran are welcome to attend the banquet, but reservations must be made by Tuesday. The banquet will begin at 6 p. m. Thursday.

Rev. Thompson, who coached at Neenah, Wis., High School, and at Upsala, Augustana and Ripon Colleges after leaving Manistique, left the coaching profession to enter Luther Seminary, St. Paul, Minn. While attending the seminary, he coached the Bethel College track team and refereed college football games.

After graduating with honors in 1961, he returned to Ripon as chaplain. In the past eight years he has been instrumental in establishing a summer "Upward Bound" program at Ripon designed to motivate underprivileged boys to prepare themselves for college.

Rev. Thompson graduated from the University of Wisconsin, where he earned all Big Ten honors in baseball as a second baseman and played tailback on the Wisconsin football team. He received the Big Ten medal for proficiency in the classroom and in athletics, an honor comparable to the LeClere award earned by his son, Steve, last fall.

Mayor Chase Votes 'No':

City Hires Thorin To Manage Airport

Jon Thorin of Thorin Aviation, Escanaba municipal airport manager had his contract renewed and received a boost in salary under a new contract approved by the Council Thursday.

His salary will be $12,000, said City Manager George Harvey, but the new contract will save the city money.

Mayor Cecil B. Chase, without explanation, voted "no" on the motion to approve the contract.

Voting for the Thorin contract were Councilmen Robert Bink, Edward J. Cox, Miles Dupie and Richard Pryal.

Noting that the motion had carried, Mayor Chase added: "I would like to have mine recorded as a 'no' vote."

Rahoi Leaves

Earlier in the discussion of the contract with Thorin the mayor had told Leo Rahoi of 1017 S. 17th St. that he could not be heard at that time and that he would have to wait until the end of the meeting. Rahoi and several other persons left the Council chamber and did not return.

Rahoi has been one of a few critics who have complained to the Council over a period of several years about the management of the municipal airport.

Thorin's present contract pays him $2,000 and is in effect under extension to July 1, the City manager reported.

Big Job Ahead

Under the terms of the new contract Thorin will receive all of the revenues in the operation of the airport and will be required to employ an assistant. "Gray areas" in the operation of the airport have been erased in the new contract which has been examined by the Michigan Aeronautics Commission, Harvey said.

The City manager said that as far as he is concerned it is not a question of who is manager at the airport but that a big job is ahead there and that it should be done well.

Thorin began originally as manager at a salary of $1 a year and this was increased to $2,000. Under the new contract Thorin must pay for all of the help required in the operation, plus insurance, fringe benefits and other costs.

Save City's Money

The savings to the city in the operation with Thorin as manager will be an estimated $17,852, the manager added.

The motion to approve the contract with Thorin was made by Councilman Bink supported by Cox.

In other business the Council approved purchase of furniture for the new airport terminal building at a cost of $4,258 from Kobasic Furniture, Escanaba, the lowest of five bids.

Council approved the manager purchasing ready-mix concrete when needed and rejected the bid of Strophich Concrete; approved paying $3,547 to Republic Cresoting for utility poles; and $1,540 to High Grade Chemical Co. for chemical to be used in water treatment.

Deer Emergency Ends In Delta

The wintertime emergency among Delta County's deer is terminated, Joseph Vogt, Department of Natural Resources district game biologist, reported today.

The animals are moving out of the swamps into the uplands and the serious feed situation of the winter months is ended in the Delta area.

For northern Marquette and Alger Counties, however, the snow continues to keep the deer confined, although that situation should also ease shortly, Vogt said.

Meanwhile there is corn available to those persons who may want to continue feeding in the Marquette-Alger area.

Congress first abolished slavery in the District of Columbia on April 16, 1862.

THE DELTA COUNTY 4-H Style Review and Talent Show were held Saturday, April 12 at the Junior High School. Club members from throughout the county participated in the all day event. Selected as county 4-H King and Queen were Dale Ford of Cornell and Kathy Madden of Gladstone. (D. Brown Photo)

Public Convenience:

Downtown Rest Area Discussed

The continued development of Escanaba's downtown business district received the encouragement of the City Council Thursday night when city cooperation in acquisition of a public rest area at Ludington and 11th St. was received.

The property is a Standard Oil Co. gas station which could be remodeled to serve as a public rest facility, said City Manager George Harvey.

Purchase price of the property is $30,000. The assessed valuation is $24,500.

The merchants were reported by Harvey as being "behind" the purchase plan and the Council agreed to enter into a cooperative optioning of the property with the retailers. The option will be for a period of 90 days.

Architect Coming

Meanwhile the city and the retailers will discuss apportionment of financing. The Council was invited to meet with the Chamber of Commerce retailers next Wednesday noon at the Stonehouse.

Robert Mosenfelder, noting that he was not speaking for other retailers, told the Council last night that he believes Red Owl's new shopping center will benefit the entire community; and there will be additional gains if the downtown business district continues its development program into a second shopping center.

Harold "Pat" Gasman, Escanaba businessman, encouraged the Council to write for the services of a Housing and Urban Development architect to work with merchants on development plans. There is no cost to the city and the Council will make the application.

Downtown Area

Both Mosenfelder and Gasman spoke in favor of efforts to relocate the Escanaba post office in the downtown area, rather than at the city's west side.

Gasman said the proposed location west of N. 23rd St. would create additional traffic problems, and would be a major inconvenience for many persons, including residents of the Senior Citizens housing in the 500 block, Ludington St. near the present post office.

In other community growth developments the Council:

Approved a preliminary plat of the Arthur DeGrand addition between 10th and 12th Aves. S.; granted a request of Jack Foster to break curb in the 400 block S. 10th St. where Foster Electronics is to build an addition; approved the deed of the old Court House site to three families who are to be removed from the Senior Citizens housing site.

More Expansion

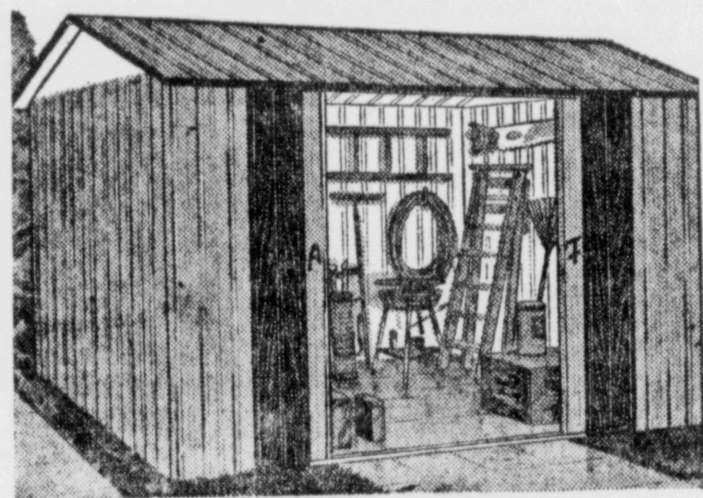

Referred to the Board of Appeals a request to convert to four-family use a dwelling at 1010 9th Ave. S.; referred to the Planning Commission for further study the plat for an area west of 23rd St. in the Doctors Park area, to which objections had been received.

Received petitions for the improvement of S. 19th St. (an alley) along the west side of the golf course, and advised the petitioners that it would be considered as part of the new city budget; and set May 15 for adoption of an ordinance vacating street right of way for the Red Owl shopping center development.

Deferred to next meeting action on the request of Andez Industries for the purchase of city-owned land for industrial expansion; and approved sale with certain restrictions of city land to the Escanaba Foundation as site for possible industrial uses.

The Council also adopted proclamations directing attention to Bicycle Safety Week beginning April 21 and "Dog Patch Days" starting the same date.

Shopping Center

The Upper Midwest Research & Development Council held a conference at Eau Claire, Wis., last week on the problem of migration from the rural areas to the big cities. The problem, of course, is acute in the Upper Great Lakes States; they lose population year after year and the big cities to the south grow.

Chief commentator on the process and a distinguished student of this phenomenon, which is described as one of the greatest migrations of history, was Dr. Edward Henry of St. Cloud, Minn. He is a director of the Ford Foundation's Microcity Project, president of the Minnesota League of Municipalities and a professor of political science at St. John's University, Collegeville, Minn., and mayor of St. Cloud.

Dr. Henry, in his talk on the shift of people from the small towns to the big ones, described a happening at St. Cloud which may show the way that the wind will blow when Escanaba gets the big shopping center. It has been announced by Red Owl Stores, Inc., and Gamble Development Co. for an area west of 23rd St. and north of 1st Ave. N.

Development plans are reported progressing on this project, with contract bidding planned for fall, construction next winter and opening in 1970.

What the new shopping center will do to Escanaba's present retailing district along Ludington St. has been a matter of much speculation and quite a bit of concern.

Since it was impossible for city planners to get the Gamble development to go downtown as a renewal element in the old district, the question has been asked whether it will not speed the deterioration of that district by drawing shopping away from it.

That the shopping center could be the salvation of the present shopping district has not been much suggested, but it could be that if what Dr. Henry reported happened at St. Cloud should happen here.

"Three years ago a huge shopping center was created outside the city limits of St. Cloud in a nice tax pocket," he said. "It was of great concern to our businessmen on Main St., but actually it hasn't hurt them much. We're pulling shoppers from a radius of 50 miles — pulling them away from the smaller cities, and they're being hurt."

"It's been a good thing for us. The merchants had to be stimulated to do something to promote Main St. and they've done it now under the new competition from the shopping center. It has helped to bring in urban renewal. But it has been hard on the stores in the area around St. Cloud for a distance of 50 miles. That's where most of the new business came from."

So here is another example of the drift from the country to the cities, this time affecting merchandising.

Letters To The Press

MILL

Since our first letter to the Press regarding our concern over the Mead Co. plan to build a sulphate mill in Escanaba, we have received many inquiries from interested and concerned citizens in regard to what they may do to prevent this malodorous pollution of the air in Escanaba and surrounding areas.

They have been concerned for health reasons, for economic reasons such as depreciation of their home property values, for economic reasons such as devaluation of their businesses particularly in the tourism industry, and, most of all, for aesthetic reasons. They all have expressed an interest in keeping this catastrophe from happening in our area by doing whatever is necessary.

The management officials of the Mead Corp. were kind enough to stop in and discuss their plans for the sulphate pulp mill. They did not deny that the mill at Wisconsin Rapids smells terrible and they implied that they would do a much better job of smell control than Consolidated Paper Co. has done (or, by inference, any other paper company in the U. S. A. has done). They spoke of a smell control process that is in use in Sweden and said they planned to go there and investigate it.

During some of the recent foggy, drizzly days mixed in with our beautiful spring weather, we have thought how ghastly it would be to have the odor of rotten eggs spreading with the fog. We strongly feel that the Mead Co. should bear the burden of proof that there is a new process that would eliminate the terrible odor.

If the process in Sweden is so good, why don't some of the paper mills in this country that are on the spot for air pollution use it rather than being forced to buy up land of complaining citizens around them as in Wisconsin Rapids?

Our citizens and officials should insist that it be proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that we won't be subjected to what Wisconsin Rapids and other sulphate mill towns are subjected to before one spade of dirt is turned for the kraft mill. Once it is built, it will be too late. Let's not be brainwashed by vague assurances of a new system that even Mead officials themselves have not checked. If it is thoroughly effective, let them prove it. If they can, their new mill will be a valued and welcome addition to our community. If they can't, our community is greatly better off without it.

POSITION

Your recent editorial concerning my request that Dr. Ira Polley inform the Legislature of his views on non-public school aid was well written, but I believe you missed the point.

Your psychological and political analyses of my reasons for this request are erroneous because they are based on faulty interpretation. I did not, as you state, demand a "Yes" or "No" answer from Dr. Polley on non-public school aid. Nor am I, as you suggest, nervous about making up my mind on this issue, nor the political consequences which might result.

On the first point, I am not interested in whether Dr. Polley likes or dislikes the idea of non-public aid. I asked him to give his views and opinions on how such a program would affect both public and private schools in this state. As Michigan's chief school administrator I believe he is the natural person to provide the Legislature with this type of information. I am sure that he could provide useful information on both sides of the issue, and I asked for any arguments he might have for or against.

Your suggestion that I wanted to use Dr. Polley's position for political protection is a complete misinterpretation. I am not, and never have been, afraid to make a decision and stick to it regardless of the political consequences. But a decision of this magnitude must be made as carefully as possible. I know from personal experience how vitally important education is. I believe it is too important to make snap judgments. Because of my interest in education I want to make my decision on the basis of what is best for total education in Michigan. To do this I want first to have all the facts on both sides of the issue.

I am confident of my ability to make tough decisions. But I do not consider myself the final authority on all things known to man. I respect the opinions of experts in specific fields, like Dr. Polley, but I do not let them make up my mind for me. After considering all the facts, I come to my own conclusion and make my own decision.

I have never attempted to escape the political consequences of any decision I have made since entering the Legislature. I do not intend to start with this issue.

ABM

One of the commonest questions I get about the proposed Anti-Ballistic Missile asks why in the world the Russians should get nervous about our deployment of a purely defensive system.

"If we are just defending ourselves," writes a Flint housewife, "why should anyone get upset? Offensive weapons might crank up a new arms race but I don't see how defensive weapons can."

The answer lies in the cold war's strange, looking-glass character.

The security of each side depends on mutual assurance that neither side could possibly start a nuclear war without getting mortally wounded itself.

So the Russians are bound to get nervous if they think we could wipe them out while warding off retaliatory damage to ourselves. They would then have to increase their striking force to match our defense.

It seems mildly insane to think of a new arms race when already the two major powers have a stockpile of explosives equal to 15 tons of TNT for every man, woman and child on earth. But it could begin — and soon.

Moreover, in any arms race, each nation always overreacts to a move by the opposition.

First, in the opinion of most scientists, any ABM system that we build will probably not work very well. The system is tremendously intricate and could never be adequately tested short of war.

But the Russians, in responding to our ABM, begin by assuming that it will work perfectly because military planners are trained to expect the worst.

And then we, in turn would overreact to the Russian counter-measures.

Anti-ballistic missiles, whether protecting our offensive Minuteman missiles or our cities, depend entirely on radar to direct them to their targets.

Without radar, the system is useless.

But radar stations must be above-ground to work, so they are vulnerable to nuclear attack. So, much of the ABM system must be directed toward protecting — guess what? — the ABM system.

In a sense, ABM deployment is like building a kennel to house a watchdog to guard the kennel... another example of how huge military ventures, once undertaken, can assume a momentum of their own.

Moreover, it is very doubtful that the "thin" $7 and a half billion ABM defense proposed by the administration would give us any meaningful protection against the Chinese when they finally develop a ballistic missile system.

It would be of value only during that limited period when the Chinese would have only a very few missiles to throw at us and even then the Chinese could concentrate their attack on some target not shielded by ABM's.

Since the Russians have clearly signaled a willingness — even an eagerness — to talk about an agreement mutually banning ABM's, it seems to me that we ought to try to reach such an agreement before we begin spending a lot of money on a system that is of doubtful value anyway.

Senator Cooper (R-Ky) and I intend once again to try to put off any ABM expenditure. When military procurement bills come to the Senate, we will ask deletion or postponement of ABM authorizations.

We've lost on four previous tries but these votes came when the country was not nearly as well-informed on the issue at it is now.

Somewhere this arms escalation has to stop. The ABM is an attempt to minimize the consequences of war.

Maybe this is the time, instead, for a serious attempt to minimize the chances of war.

Win At Bridge

By JACOBY & SON

It is a bridge writer's privilege to select hands that show his bidding methods at their best.

Roth and Rubens have done this in "Modern Bridge Bidding Complete" but once in a while they have slipped up a trifle. Today's hand is meant to illustrate two things. First is the Roth three-club response to a major-suit opening to show four trumps and 13 to 15 points in support.

Second is the theory of distribution which is that any time your partner fits one of two suits, he is not going to show up with more than two cards in the other one.

Thus they recommend a Blackwood four no-trump with the South hand, followed by a jump to seven spades. It makes sense since North's four spades include both the queen and jack, and he has only two hearts.

We would prefer to have more information before we tried a grand slam and this particular hand is ideal for the Jacoby methods.

In our bidding, North would respond two no-trump. This is the Jacoby two no-trump which forces to the spade game and shows the same minimum as the Roth-Rubens three clubs. South rebids three clubs showing a singleton in that suit. North bids three diamonds showing both that ace and some desire to get to six. South continues with three hearts to show that ace. North's four clubs shows the last ace and South bids four hearts to show the king of that suit.

This gives North a chance to jump to either a slightly conservative five spades or a slightly aggressive six spades. In either instance South can well afford to go to the grand slam and feel certain of finding the right cards in dummy.

A—It is a toss-up between pass and five hearts. We slightly favor the five-heart bid which will tell your partner to go to six if his hand is sound and he can handle the second diamond lead.

PERMANENT PROBLEM

LONDON (P)—The telephone cable manhole in the middle of busy Brigstock Road is staying where it is despite complaints that traffic backs up for miles whenever the cover is taken off. Telephone officials say it would cost 50,000 pounds ($120,000) to move the hole a few yards to the sidewalk.

Ann Landers

Hubby In Prison; Must Explain Child

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 17-year-old boy with a problem. I don't seem to like girls. I date them but I have no interest in going steady or getting to know a girl really well.

In gym class I get nervous when I have to undress in front of other guys. And when I see them in the showers I feel uncomfortable, sort of a mixture of excitement and embarrassment.

Is there something wrong with me?

I realize my chances of getting a letter in your column are a million to one, but I do need help and I don't know where else to go. Please come to my rescue. — J. of Newark

Dear J: Although the thoughts and feelings you express are by no means uncommon among adolescents, the fact that you are so concerned indicates you need to discuss this problem with a professional. Most schools have competent counselors. I hope your school is among them. If not, go to a mental health clinic. Newark has some excellent services.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband has been in prison for three years. I fell in love with another man after being alone for nearly 18 months. I let the other man move into my home and now we have a baby six months old. I'm sure my friends and family think we are married.

Who is the legal father of this child? If my husband wants to get off the support hook, can he do so on the grounds that he is sterile? (I am almost sure he is.) This is quite a mess and I need your help because my husband will be out of prison in a couple of months, and I'm all mixed up about what's what. Thank you. — Absence Creates Problems

Dear Ab: A man who has been in prison for three years could not have fathered a nine-month-old child even if he WEREN'T sterile. Legally, however, your husband is the baby's father until he takes steps to prove otherwise. You need to see a lawyer.

Dear Ann Landers: Educate the dumb public, please. Tell people that simply because you live next door to a family does not mean you are bosom buddies.

State Dems OK $12,000 Budget

LANSING (AP)—State Chairman James McNeely reports the Michigan Democratic Party has approved a $12,000 operating budget for the party's political reform commission.

A-FRAME CHALET of this type is becoming increasingly popular as a vacation or second home. This one has four bedrooms and all the extras which would make it suitable for an all-year-round house in most country areas.

Four Bedrooms In A-Frame

By ANDY LANG

A-frame houses have become popular as second homes or all-year houses in suburbs and country areas. They seem to answer the yearning for something different.

Architect Lester Cohen had added an extra room in answer to requests for a four-bedroom A-frame. The standard design usually has two bedrooms and one in the upper peak, but with larger families and more use made of vacation homes, the four-bedroom layout is sure to be put to good use. With its picturesque chalet exterior, this house offers a wealth of living amenities.

There's a lot of activity possible on the lower level. From the garage at the rear you can go to the storage room, utility room laundry and to a side door. The stairway to the living level also is there. The recreation area or family room on the same level is big and will be a star attraction whether this house is for vacation or all-year use. Cozy, friendly furniture groupings suggest themselves — around the fireplace, centered in the room or around the walls; even in front of the window wall at the front.

FLOOR PLANS: Everything is here for complete living for a good-sized family. Living room and family room provide plenty of space for indoor activities. Observation deck at the front, dining deck at the side and large patio at the rear serve same purpose outdoors.

Cozy, friendly furniture groupings suggest themselves — around the fireplace, centered in the room or around the walls; even in front of the window wall at the front.

Supplementing the garage, for shore or lake use, there is a boat stall. This opens into two dressing room areas and a full-scale bathroom with a stall shower. In ski country or suburban acreage, the boat space will be utilized for another car, and the dressing rooms by ski gear or gardening equipment storage.

To enter the living levels, you can go up the stairway at the front and cross the sun deck, or come up from the side yard to the dining balcony, especially the latter if you are heading toward the kitchen. Even vacation-minded families like several means of entering a house to spare the living room floor or rugs the brunt of through traffic. The view through the big picture windows will be an important feature for living and dining rooms in any interior decorating scheme. There's a second fireplace outlined by the open stairways from below and above, and a planter to one side.

The kitchen is self-contained and easy to work in. A snack bar with overhead hanging cupboards forms the divider between the kitchen and living areas. Meals are easily handled at the bar, in the dining area or, best of all, when the weather warrants it, outside on the dining balcony. When the sun shifts or you just want a change, there's the equally inviting front deck. At the back, two bedrooms share a closet wall and have another bathroom to themselves.

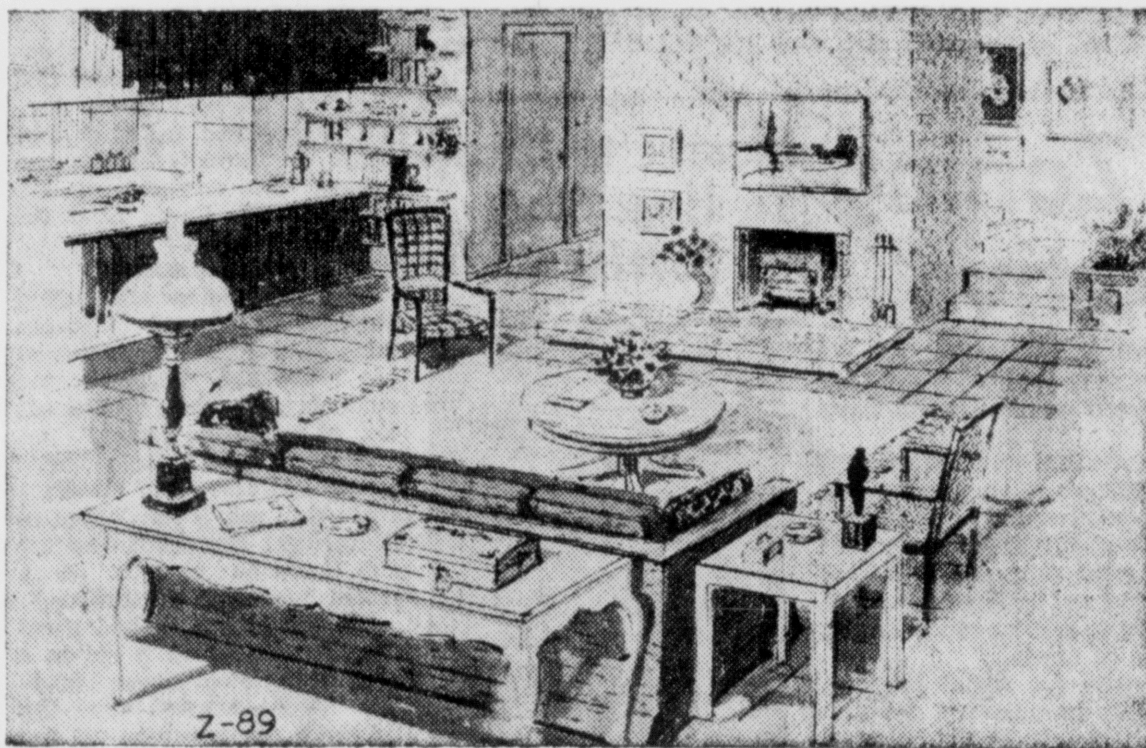

On the second floor are the main family bedrooms. The master bedroom gives the owners large quarters, their own balcony, excellent closet space and private access via a pocket door to the third bathroom. A fireplace in the bedroom is a delightful country-estate extra. The second bedroom features a closet wall and has a fine view to the deck.

Although the dimensions of the basic house are very modest — 37' 4" by 30' 6" — the observation deck at the front stretches 45' and is 12' deep, which means that the covered area below is the same size. Plenty of room there for outdoor relaxing or entertaining in the sun or the shade.

Z-89 Statistics

Design Z-89 has a living room, dining and kitchen area, two bedrooms and a bathroom on the main level, totaling 933 square feet. There are three bedrooms and a bathroom upstairs, adding 656 square feet to the living area. A large family room — 29' by 18' — is on the ground floor, along with a bathroom, two dressing rooms, a laundry, a storage area and a place for an automobile and a boat. Over-all dimensions of the basic house are 37' 4" by 30' 6".

ESCANABA MUNICIPAL ELECTRIC UTILITY

North Western Resumes Loadings May 12

Surge Bypass To Speed Ore Flow

The Chicago & North Western Railway will resume iron ore shipping at Escanaba by May 12 after a shutdown on Thursday night, April 10 when a surge bin of the new ore yard conveyor system collapsed under the weight of a load of 1,050 tons of iron pellets.

The collapse of the surge bin resulted in the death of Alfred Koerner, 46, of Republic, one of four electricians who were working beneath the bin when the bottom fell out. The other men escaped injury. As many as a dozen men had been working under the bin at times as McDowell-Wellman Co. of Cleveland, the designers and constructors of the ore terminal, rushed work to completion to permit shiploading.

Cause Not Told

McDowell-Wellman is constructing the $16 million facility to unload, store and shipload ore for the North Western under a turnkey type of contract and have not yet turned over the facility to the railroad. It replaces the North Western's big pocket type ore dock, which was retired from use after the close of navigation last winter and razed.

Engineers on the project said that the cause of the fatal collapse of the surge bin had not been determined and they declined to speculate on probable cause. The bin at the time of the collapse held 15 carloads of iron pellets, and the carloads weigh 70 tons each. The bin had a rated capacity of 1,000 tons of pellets, but presumably had an overload safety factor.

First reports indicated there were about 300 tons of ore in the bin when it burst.

the administration when North Korea called for a meeting of the military armistice commission, the group which has met there since the end of the Korean War periodically to talk about such items as truce violations.

Plane Unmentioned

To the Americans' surprise, the Pyongyang representative, Maj. Gen. Lee Choon-sun, limited his opening speech to a seven-minute complaint about alleged demilitarized zone violations—but never mentioned the crisis-provoking plane incident.

U.S. Air Force Maj. Gen. James B. Knapp then launched into the U. S. rebuttal of Pyongyang's earlier claim that the slow-flying U. S. propeller plane intruded deep into Korean territory.

The American plane never flew even close to North Korean air space, Knapp declared. He noted plane debris was found 90 miles out to sea.

"The shooting down of this U.S. plane was not an act of self-defense," he said. "It was a calculated act of aggression. . . . International law and custom call you to account for the consequences of your violation of these principles . . ."

Acknowledge Facts

"The proper course for you to take in this instance is to acknowledge the true facts of the case: 'That you shot down our aircraft over international waters at a point approximately 90 miles from your coast, and that this plane at no time entered your air space.'

"We, of course, expect that you will take appropriate measures to prevent similar incidents in the future."

Lee's response was to ask what unit the U.S. plane came from. After the North Korean general repeated the question twice, Knapp strode out of the parley.

As the incident receded further into the depths of diplomacy, the search for the missing crewmen continued, but with hope for their survival all but gone.

Of the 31 men aboard the plane, the bodies of two have been recovered.

The Pentagon identified them as Lt. (jg) Joseph Richard Ribar, 28, and Aviation Electronics Technician 1.C. Richard Edson Sweeney.

Ribar was the husband of Emma Jean Ribar of Atsugi Naval Air Station, Japan. His mother, Anne Ribar, lives in Ambbridge, Pa.

Sweeney's widow, Yokko Sweeney, lives in Mishima, Japan, while his parents reside in Chicago.

Although North Korea attacked the United States as an aggressor and congratulated itself for shooting down the plane, the Soviet Union continued a relatively restrained attitude.

In fact, Soviet destroyers aided in the search for the plane and it was a Russian vessel that recovered the first debris from the aircraft. The Soviet press reports have been brief and gave the versions of both sides.

constant supply to the shiploader, which travels along the dock and fills the hold of a lake carrier. The ore moves to the terminal in North Western and Milwaukee Road trains is dumped three cars at a time in a new rotary car dumper with automatic positioning device; is conveyed on a belt line to a transfer point and from there moves to the stacker in the ore storage yard, or to the surge bin and shiploader for shiploading.

The surge bin will be rebuilt and beefed up with welding and other strengthening devices, but it will be temporarily bypassed in the creation of an emergency loading system which McDowell-Wellman has devised to permit earlier resumption of loading than would be possible if the operation were to wait upon completion of the surge bin.

May Start Earlier

Completion of the temporary bypass of the surge bin is scheduled in three weeks, while the surge bin construction will take 10 weeks. Engineers said that the temporary loading system would reduce normal shiploader cargo placement time by only 10 to 20 per cent. Normal shiploading will be available with completion of the surge bin work and it is rated speedier than the old pocket type dock loading.

Railroad officials said that they regarded the May 12 tentative date for resumption of ore shipping here as "very conservative." Work on the temporary conveyor bypass system started on Wednesday of this week.

Dust Control

While work progresses on the conveyor system at the ore terminal, work is also progressing on a temporary control system for dust created at the automatic car dumper by the spilling of iron pellets from railroad cars.

McDowell-Wellman engineers installed a spray header in the rotary car dumper shed in a low position to control the dust several weeks ago and are now installing a second spray header in a higher position in the shed to complete the control.

The engineering firm is also proposing to the North Western a complete dust absorption system for the terminal and work is being done on this at the firm's Cleveland headquarters at the present time. It would use a wetting agent and water and baffle vanes to control the iron ore dust. The wetting agent is a patented chemical sold commercially as "Wetter Told Water."

The dust control system being planned is like one already in use in Ashtabula, Ohio in control of coal dust, which was described by the engineer as more difficult to control than iron ore dust.

Release More Pine Martens

The release of 16 additional pine martens near the East Branch of the Whitefish River on Thursday brought the total so far to 20 animals—with the goal now set at 60 in the project to reintroduce pine martin to the Upper Peninsula.

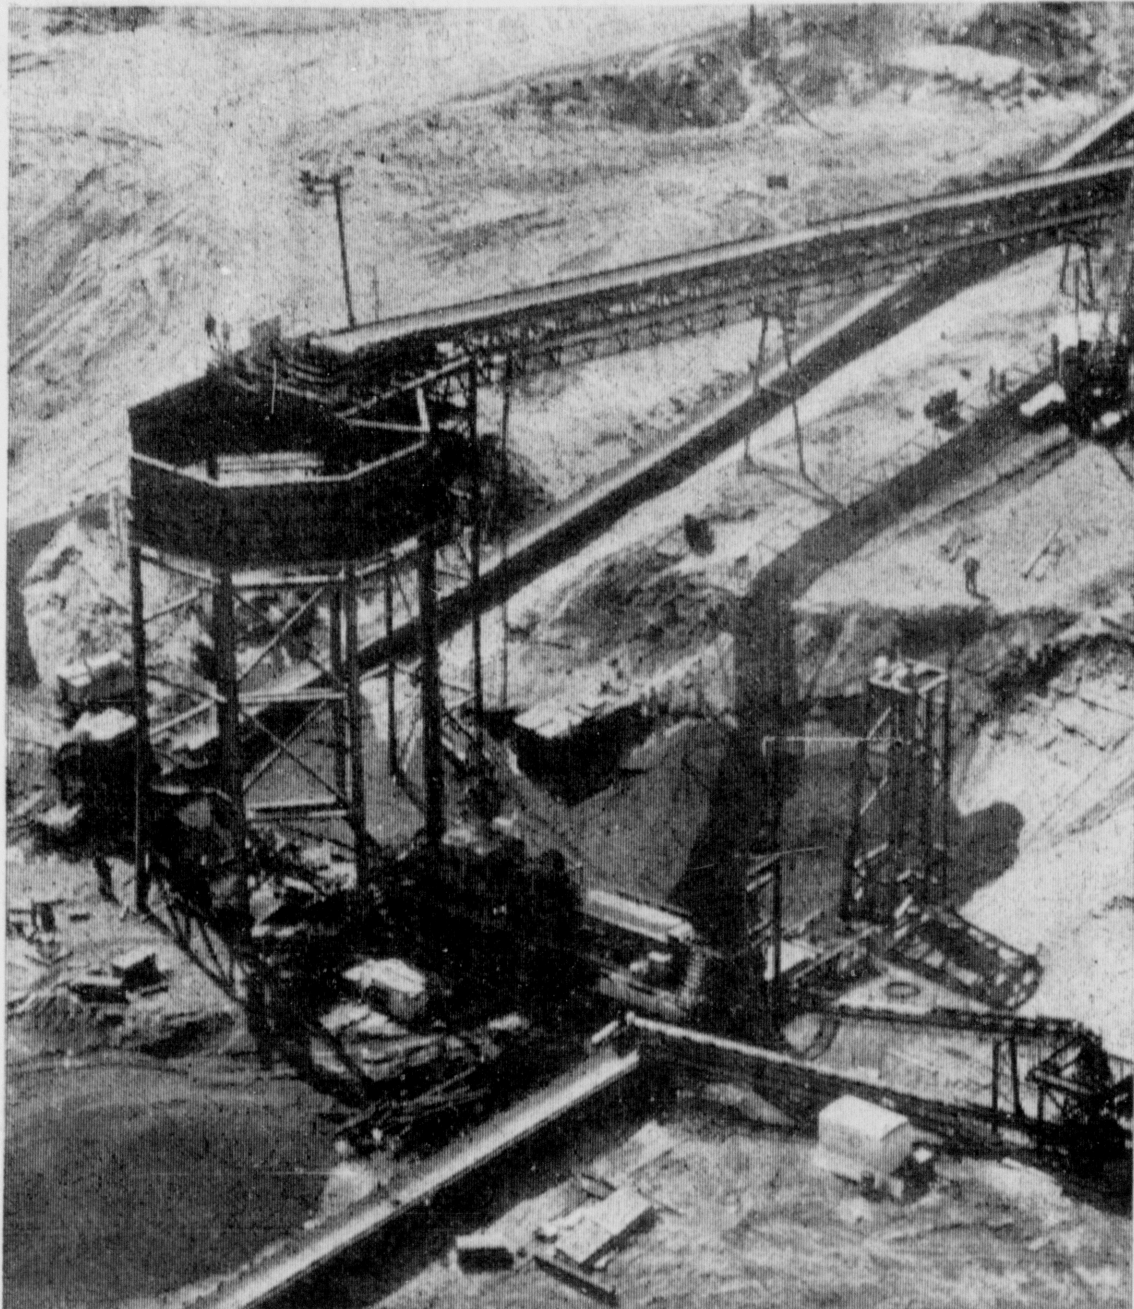

The plantings are being made by the Department of Natural Resources in a cooperative program with the U.S. Forest Service.

Joseph Vogt, DNR game biologist for the Escanaba District, said the animals are being flown from Ontario where they are live-trapped. The first four animals were released in the Buckeye Grade area near the Whitefish River on Tuesday.

About 60 pine martens are expected to be brought to the same area to complete the project for this year, with the planting going well so far although the ratio of females to males is considered too low, said Vogt.

Additional animals from the Ontario source hopefully will help correct this imbalance.

Pine martens were once plentiful in Michigan but they largely disappeared by the 1920's.

THIS PHOTO shows the surge bin at the Chicago & North Western docks after it collapsed April 10. It is reported that it will be by-passed and that shipping will resume on May 12.

Township Zoning Board Is Active

The Ford River Township Zoning Board, meeting at the Township Hall Wednesday evening, heard a request from Felix Robare to build a 30 by 40 foot cement block building on M-35 to be used as an auto repair and cabinet making shop.

The site is in a Class A residential area and the board will study the request as to its non-conforming use.

Many violations have been brought to the attention of the Zoning Board as to using Class A residential areas for commercial purposes, such as warehouses and displays at places of residence, which should be restricted to commercial areas, the Board reported.

Violations are occurring with trailer homes which do not conform to the Ford River Zoning Ordinance, which stipulates that:

"House trailers to be used for a residence, that are unlicensed, must be occupied by the owner of the premises, not to be used for rental purposes, and such lot must not be less than 100 ft. by 400 ft. subject to the Zoning Board of Appeals."

Trailers for rental purposes can only be placed in a trailer park approved by the Board of Appeals in accordance with the Michigan Trailer Park Law and as conformity to land use other than light commercial.

A discussion was held as to the Ordinance on fencing of junk and equipment yards similar to Wells Township. This will be brought to the attention of the Ford River Township Board.

The purpose of zoning is not to exclude any legitimate or appropriate use of land or property, the Board reported. Rather, the aim is "a place for everything and everything in its place."

Ford River is classified into zones as follows: Residential Area - R-1 Urban Residential District; R-2 Rural Residential and Farm area.

Commercial Areas; Recreational State, County or Township; Industrial Areas; and Forestry Areas.

The Zoning Board of Appeals is composed of John Bartel, chairman, Nick Brayak Jr., member from the Township Board, and a layman at large to be appointed by the Township Board.

Marquette Group To Hear Story Of Fayette Park

James Kent

The story of the "Resurrection of Fayette and its 'Ghosts'" will be featured at the spring meeting of the Marquette County Historical Society to be held in the Holiday Inn, Tuesday, April 22, at 7:30 p. m.

The speaker will be James Kent, park superintendent, Fayette State Park, whose talk will be illustrated with colored slides. He will also have on display artifacts which were discovered during the restoration.

This meeting is open to the public, a social hour will be held following Kent's talk, and refreshments will be served.

The original idea of restoring the abandoned town of Fayette and converting it into a state park was conceived by members of the Delta County Historical Society Foundation. The idea proved acceptable and upon acquiring the property from its owners, the Department of Natural Resources took over in 1957.

George Smith Joins Department

George A. Smith, 29, a native of Marquette and the son of Mrs. James G. Smith of Marquette, has joined the Michigan Department of Natural Resources as a conservation officer.

Smith, a graduate of Bishop Baraga High School, Marquette, in 1957, received his Bachelor of Science degree in sociology from Northern Michigan University in 1964. He has been employed by the Michigan Employment Security Commission for four years in Marquette and is a veteran of three years with the U. S. Navy.

Friends Of Blacks' NMU Boycott Weak

MARQUETTE—An attempt by the Friends of the Black Students Association to gain support for retention of the Job Corps Center on the Northern Michigan University campus seemed to be gaining little support today.

The Association, after holding rallies for the last two days, launched a student boycott of classes this morning which had these apparent results:

1. Student traffic to and from classes was described by a university spokesman as "normal for a Friday."
2. By actual count only 28 students carrying "FOBSA" signs were picketing in front of entrances to university buildings.

Pickets At Center

Later this morning the Friends of the Black Students Association gathered all pickets at the University Center. Forty-three were carrying signs and marching in front of the entrance. A few other students were standing around.

Then, shortly before 10:30, the picketers—their number grown to 61—marched through Kaye Hall shouting "Save the Job Corps"

The latest of several mimeographed sheets issued by the Association following announcement late last week that the Job Corps Center here would be closed, called on students to "Boycott classes and protest the removal of the Women's Job Corps from the Northern campus."

Demand Action

The Association also urged students to demand that Dr. John X. Jamrich, president of the university, "represent the students and take positive action to retain the center."

Also it called for students to demand that NMU "take the leadership role it has lacked in educational innovation—let the Job Corps on campus be a model for other institutions."

On the mimeographed sheet the Association—as it did at a rally in the Field House Thursday night—revealed that the demands for retention of the NMU Center "are being carried to Washington." It said that "petition signatures are mounting into the thousands" and that "a chartered bus is to leave for Washington soon."

Prof Is Speaker

Reuben Franco, New York City, president of the Friends of the Black Students Association; Melvin Payne, Detroit, president of the Black Students Association; Michael Shapiro, assistant professor in the Department of Commerce, and Eugene Lehman, associate professor of mathematics, spoke at Thursday night's rally.

A crowd estimated by several persons at about 450 attended the rally, but it was obvious from the applause for speakers that less than half of them were supporters of the campaign to keep the Job Corps here.

Late in the meeting, after the crowd had dwindled to about 200, Franco called for a show of hands by students in favor of support for a student boycott. Approximately 75 held up their hands.

Attack President

Franco, after playing a recording of a statement issued by Dr. Jamrich Thursday noon, attacked the statement at length.

Refer to page one story on study of nation's Job Corps centers.

and spoke on phases of the Job Corps Center.

"Jamrich said he would support a Job Corps Center in Detroit," he said at one point. "Why can't we get Detroit people up here?"

Payne said he was "very disappointed with Jamrich" charging that NMU president "believes the university isn't mature enough for a Job Corps Center."

"This is an educator?" he asked.

Shapiro, who claimed the "decision to close the Job Corps was made by evil men for evil purposes," assailed "racists" in Marquette for their opposition to the center and referred to the crowd at a hockey game in the Palestra which cheered when news of Martin Luther King's assassination was broadcast over a loudspeaker.

Opposes Boycott

Lehman, however, urged student not to strike—"it would be very foolish" at this time, he said. Instead he urged a delay until the NMU Board of Control meeting next week.

Franco said that money would be needed to charter a bus for the trip to Washington and said solicitation would be conducted at the university and in the community.

"We have to make ourselves known," he declared. "Even if we have to be arrested on the White House lawn."

Ask Millions For Upper Lakes Region

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration has recommended a one-year extension of a law that authorizes appropriations for grants to five regional development commissions.

Asst. Secretary of Commerce Robert Podesta told the House Public Works Committee Thursday his department is fully committed to the task of regional development.

One of the five regions is the Upper Great Lakes.

Harold C. Jordahl Jr., acting federal co-chairman, said the Upper Great Lakes Commission's first year program would cost about $236 million.

The Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission is composed of the governors of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota and Harold C. Jordahl of Wisconsin, acting federal co-chairman.

The district includes more than 100 counties in northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota with a population of 2.8 million, which is 18 per cent of the total of the three states.

The region's population is more rural than that of the nation, is older, and less than half as dense. It has had a population gain of only 1.6 per cent in 1940-50 when the nation was gaining 14.5 per cent and only 3.6 per cent in 1950-60 when the nation was gaining 18.5.

The Upper Great Lakes Commission has given a grant of $100,000 to the Escanaba Area Airport, $60,000 to Bay de Noc Community College for its campus development, $44,000 for a Nahma water supply system, $100,000 for a Sault vocational center and other aids to Upper Peninsula public works and projects.

Oscar Ceremony Makes TV Era

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Academy members would comment, "Thank heaven."

Gower Champion's masterminding of the 41st awards show brought Oscar into the TV age at long last. Gone was the musty, fussy tradition that had made the Academy broadcast one of the greatest yawns of the year.

At the Oscar Ball after the telecast, Academy President Gregory Peck was complimented on the streamlined presentation.

"Wait till next year," he said with a twinkle.

Peck has hopes of making the show even more appealing. He also is going ahead with plans to re-examine Academy membership, with the aim of making the awards more reflective of real achievement in the film world.

This week's winners again underscored the need for change. Many observers questioned whether "Oliver" deserved to be the top winner.

This movie goer found "Oliver" to be the most entertaining film of 1968. But as cinematic achievements, "The Lion in Winter" and "Romeo and Juliet" seemed far more deserving of the best picture award.

The Academy voters, the majority in the over-50 age class, seem to favor movies that entertain. That was apparent this year, as in the years when the members chose as best picture "The Greatest Show on Earth," "Around the World in 80 Days," "West Side Story," "My Fair Lady" and "The Sound of Music."

Oscar never fails to provide at least one surprise each year. This time it was the Katharine Hepburn-Barbra Streisand tie. The Price, Waterhouse man who counts the ballots, William Miller, was worried that Ingrid Bergman might mention only one name when she announced the winner. When he handed Miss Bergman, the envelope, he

Pet Store Owner Petitions Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Grand Rapids pet store owner Jim Westra jailed five days for harboring raccoons presented petitions signed by some 15,000 persons to legislators in Lansing this week.

The petitions called for a bill allowing permits for keeping fur-bearing animals.

Westra recently finished serving the jail sentence for keeping five baby raccoons whose mother, he said, had been killed. The wild animal enthusiast, who said he was keeping the baby raccoons because they would have died without their mother, has had numerous tiffs with the state Department of Natural Resources in the past.

Westra's appeal came too late for a bill to be introduced this year, but such a bill will probably be submitted next year.

Nelson Urges Ban On DDT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., sent telegrams Thursday to the governors of seven states bordering the Great Lakes urging them to ban use of DDT to prevent further pollution of the lakes.

Nelson, who has been advocating a nationwide ban on DDT since 1966, cited action taken Wednesday by the Michigan Commission of Agriculture which will lead to the eventual banning of the pesticide in that state.

The senator asked the governors to consider similar action in their states "so that we can halt the further pollution by DDT of the Great Lakes."

He also asked Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin to take similar steps on a nationwide level.

The telegrams went to the governors of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Michael Douglas Is His Own Man

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Add Michael Douglas to the ever-growing list of movie stars' children who are making it in films. But don't try to classify him with the others.

"I didn't grow up in Beverly Hills, thank God," says the 24-year-old son of Kirk Douglas. "I could think of nothing worse than growing up in the richest city in the richest state in the richest country in the world. How could you possibly preserve any sense of reality?"

Michael Douglas is indeed a free-thinking lad. He speaks with disarming frankness about flunking out of college, about dabbling in narcotics, etc. He is his own man, as Hollywood is discovering.

Instant Star
He also is an instant star, thanks to the recent CBS Playhouse drama, "The Experiment." He drew good notices from the telecast, as he did in a recent off-Broadway play, "City Scenes." Now he is starring with Arthur Kennedy and Teresa Wright in his first film, "Hail, Hero," which concerns father-son differences over long hair, Vietnam and other elements of the generation gap.

Mike himself wears his brown hair in the fashionable long style, though he appears to have passed through the hippie stage. That happened in his university days.

"I had been attending a prep school in the east, and the natural progression would have been for me to go on to Yale," he related. "But I was ready for a change, as big a change as possible."

"I heard about the University of California at Santa Barbara, which had four girls for every man, a beautiful campus on the ocean, surfing, and all that. That was for me."

Off Dope
Mike went the whole route: guru, pot, LSD. His experience with narcotics proved worthwhile, he believes, "because it taught me about rhythm in living. You know how some days you feel dull and listless and other days you feel alive? Everyone has certain rhythms and using narcotics helped me realize this."

He says he is no longer a user "because narcotics dull the senses and you need the sharp edges for acting."

Regular season bowling is just about wrapped up for this year, but for those enthusiasts who just can't get enough of the game, summer leagues are now being formed in the Escanaba area and bowlers are still welcome to join Special mention should also be made of the Junior League that is being formed by Margie Evans for youths from the ages of 9 to 16. Several youngsters have shown interest in the league and more are welcome to register. Those interested should call 786-0723.

On the final night of bowling in 7 p.m. Women's League at the Bowl-A-Rama Tuesday night, Edwards scored a narrow first place finish over Mel & Elmer's and several of the women turned in some fine games and series. Margaret S-ld had a 210 game in a 553 series, Shirley Peltier had a 200 game and a 551 series, Pat Johnston 211-548, and Fran Goodreau had her first 200 games of the year, a 202 and a 211. In a 550 series, Tommy's rolled an 817 scratch game and Gafner's had an 808.

Audrey Pinar bowled the high series of the year in the 9 p.m. Women's League at the Bowl-A-Rama Monday night with games of 195, 196 and 191 for a 582 series. Pat Olmstead also scored a season's first with a 212 game.

Dolores Mason rolled her high series of the season Wednesday night in the 7 p.m. Women's League at the Holiday Bowl when she came through with a 563 series on games of 203, 193 and 167.

Duane Miller also had a first this week as he rolled his first 600 series of the season when he turned in games of 171, 231 and 218 for a 620 series in the Friday Night Mixed Couples League at the Bowl-A-Rama.

Chuck Crago and Ron Parlato paced all bowlers in the City League at the Bowl-A-Rama this past Monday night. Crago had games of 245, 225 and 214 for a 684 series while Parlato had a 602 series on games of 201, 207 and 194. Other big scorers in the league Monday were Jim Brunelle 224, Gene Kee 216, Ernie Baribeau 221, Les Kamin 220 and Mickey Olsen 214.

A real tight finish is shaping up in the Tuesday night Classic League at the Bowl-A-Rama. Skradski's leads the league by one point over Carl Sawyer's and Sandberg's Bar while Miracle Market is in fourth place, two points behind the leader. This past Tuesday, Carl Sawyer's had a 1033 game in a 2853 series, Sandberg's had a 2852 series and Miracle Market had a 2839.

Split Pickers: Lu Rockman, Vera Hull, Helen Lancour, Lois Cox, Merelyn Davidson, Arlene Kriz, Eunice Timmer, Helen Pascoe, Mary Beauchamp, Bernice White, Joyce Koish, Dave Mason, Carl Olsen, Homer LaCasse, John Whitman, Roland Palzewicz, Lou Rian, Judy Isaacson, Lorraine Briere, Carol Terres and Regina Piron.

In the final roll-off of the Blue Monday League at the Continental Lanes, Pabst needed four games to break a tie with the Teamsters to capture first place in the standings. Pix Shoes finished in third place. Awards presented on the final night went to Dave Friels, high average 195; Dave Johnston, high game 253; William Blodgett, high series 601; and Gerald Destrampe as the most improved bowler.

This will be the last bowling column until the season starts again next fall. Plans are now being made to turn this space over to the three golf courses in the Escanaba and Gladstone area for some of the highlights or odd happenings on the links. I would like to thank all the people who made this column such a success during the bowling season and hope that a golf column will get the same type of response. By the way, for those interested in sharpening up their golf game, Frank Beard's book "Shaving Strokes" is available at the Press sports desk for $1.

Ron Noel, bowling in the Holiday Bowl Delta League Wednesday evening, had ten straight strikes before getting six pins on his second ball in the tenth frame to finish with a 285 game. Ron's other two games were 148 and 151. He carries a 162 average.

Stoneman No-Hits Phils

In First Complete Game

By The Associated Press

There was a pretty good reason why Bill Stoneman wasn't nervous. The situation was completely unfamiliar.

"I never even came close to a no-hitter before," said the Montreal Expos' chunky little hurler after baffling Philadelphia with a 7-0 masterpiece Thursday night.

The main reason for this is simple: Stoneman was consigned to an apparent life of oblivion in the bullpen until rescued by the Expos in the expansion draft.

Thursday's brilliant effort was his first complete game in the majors, and only the second in his entire pro career. The first was with a minor league team two years ago.

That, explained the 25-year-old right-hander, was probably why he didn't "think there was any pressure. The nerves weren't there. I wasn't as nervous as I should have been. I had good stuff and I was getting the ball where I wanted it."

Before the Expos drafted him from the Chicago Cubs, Stoneman generally was a reliever because, "I'm so short (5-foot-10) that my managers and coaches always said, 'You're a reliever.' I was successful at it so I stayed there."

But Gene Mauch, Montreal manager, said he was impressed with Stoneman's appearances against Philadelphia, a team he managed for nine years until he was fired last summer, and decided to give him a shot at being a starter.

He lost his first two tries this season, but was untouchable against the Phils Thursday night.

Stoneman, who said he threw a fastball and curves with a few change-ups, walked five and struck out eight for the nine-game old Expos, marking the first time an expansion team hurler has pitched a no-hitter in the team's debut year.

The closest Philadelphia came to a hit came in the first when Deron Johnson smashed a liner down third that was foul only by inches, when center fielder Don Bosch made a shoestring catch on Don Money in the second, and when Rusty Staub made a long running catch of a line drive to right field by Tony Taylor in the third.

Stoneman didn't have to face the Phils' top slugger, Richie Allen, who sat out the game with a bruised right shoulder.

Meanwhile, Staub backed Stoneman with a homer, three doubles and three RBIs.

In other National League games, the sizzling Chicago Cubs boosted their record to 9-1 by blanking St. Louis for the second straight night 3-0. Pittsburgh stopped the New York Mets 4-0, Atlanta ripped Houston 9-3, and San Francisco edged San Diego 5-4. Los Angeles and Cincinnati were idle.

St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst, in an effort to revitalize his defending NL champs' miserable hitting, shook up his lineup by benching three of last year's stars—Lou Brock, Julian Javier and Tim McCarver.

But, it didn't help a bit. The Cubs' Bill Hands and Phil Regan teamed to stop the Cards on four hits, handing them their fifth home loss in five games.

Hands, 2-0, didn't permit a runner past second and yielded three hits during his eight-inning stint.

Al Spangler singled in the Cubs first run in the third, and Billy Williams doubled in two more in the eighth.

Aged Jim Bunning struck out nine and permitted just three hits in a strong six-inning showing against the Mets.

The 36-year-old Bunning, only 4-14 last season, picked up his 2,500th career strikeout in the fifth, as he atoned for a shelling in his first start this season.

Friendly Fenway

Pleases Orioles

By The Associated Press

Ah, Friendly Fenway. If only the Baltimore Orioles could spend the whole season playing in Boston's cozy ballpark.

But a whole season in Fenway isn't Boog Powell's idea of paradise. "Heck no," says slugger Powell, "then we wouldn't be able to look forward to coming back."

Powell and the rest of the Orioles can't wait for the next trip to Fenway after winning three straight from the Red Sox climaxed by a 9-5 victory Thursday.

Baltimore scored 30 runs and had 48 hits in the three games and gave the Red Sox' outfielders quite a workout.

The Orioles had 17 safeties Thursday including home runs by the Robinson boys, Frank and Brooks. Rookie Billy Conigliaro had his third homer in two days for the Red Sox and Boston's Rico Petrocelli also connected.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit outlasted Cleveland 7-6 and New York split a doubleheader with Washington, taking the 10-inning opener 7-3 on Joe Pepitone's grand slam home run and dropping the nightcap 5-2. The other teams were not scheduled.

Dave Johnson led the Orioles' attack against Boston with his second straight four-hit day. Johnson had two doubles and two singles.

Mel Stottlemyre won his third straight and Stan Bahnen lost his third straight for the Yankees, who split with the Senators.

Washington tied the opener in the ninth inning on a two-run homer by Mike Epstein. But the Yankees loaded the bases with two out in the bottom of the 11th and then Pepitone tagged his grand slam.

Pinch hitter Gary Holman's double broke an eighth inning tie and pushed the Senators to their second game victory and the split. Bobby Murcer homered in each game for New York, running his season's total to five.

Jo Johnson Wins Ping Pong Crown

Miss Jo Johnson won the 1969 Girls Open Tennis Tournament by defeating Barbara Burnard 21-5, 21-15 in the finals last night at the Civic Center. Jo had previously defeated Chris Johnson 11-0, 21-15; and Jane Larson 21-17, 21-17.

Second place went to Barbara Burnard who defeated Ruth Priestner 21-10, 21-13; and Debbie Vanlerberghe 21-13, 21-14 before bowing to Miss Johnson.

Jane Larson captured third place, and the final medal went to Chris Johnson who defeated Miss Vanlerberghe in the play-off for fourth position.

The pool tournaments begin next week with the Intermediate Boys playing on Monday, the Junior Boys on Tuesday, Senior Men on Wednesday, and the Girls on Thursday. Tournaments will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Civic Center. Deadline for entering is Saturday.

Jim Katt of the Minnesota Twins has received the Gold Glove Award for the league's finest fielding pitcher for seven seasons straight.

Lolich Hurls Second Win Against Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Detroit Tiger pitcher Mickey Lolich will be on active duty with the Michigan Air National Guard for two weeks starting Saturday.

But the Cleveland Indians would have liked for him to leave a couple days early and maybe take a couple of their pitchers with him.

Lolich, making his second start against the Tribe this young season, allowed three earned runs and struck out seven in eight innings Thursday night as Detroit edged Cleveland 7-6.

The win came on a 1968-style last inning rally, but the Tigers had to survive a similar rumbling by the Indians in the ninth.

"It's strange but certain pitchers just seem to do well against certain clubs," said Lolich, who now has a 2-0 record with both wins coming against Cleveland.

"Remember how Frank Lary used to do well against the Yankees," he added. "All I hope is that it continues."

Last year the big southpaw was 3-0 against Cleveland.

Meanwhile, Indians Manager Al Dark criticized his pitching staff, which was one of the best in the majors last year.

"The group that carried us last season certainly isn't pitching yet," he said. "If we don't get good pitching we can't win."

Dark said the poor pitching apparently is due to "a lack of concentration."

Mickey Lolich

Detroit got four runs and seven hits off Cleveland starter Stan Williams in 5 1-3 innings. After 1 2-3 hitless innings by reliever Jack Hamilton, Vincent Romo came in and took the loss as his wild throw in the ninth brought in the winning Tiger run.

The Tigers scored three runs in the inning on singles by pinch hitter Gates Brown, Romo's wild throw to third base in an apparent force attempt after Dick McAuliffe walked, a sacrifice fly by Al Kaline and a single by Norm Cash. That made the score 7-4.

In the bottom of the inning Tony Horton homered off Tiger reliever Pat Dobson following Chuck Hinton's two-out single. Reliever Don McMahon finished the inning after Mike Kilkenney walked the one man he faced.

Willie Horton started the game's scoring by driving in Kaline on a fourth inning double. A single by Mickey Stanley in the fifth brought in Detroit's second run.

The Indians picked up a 2-1 lead in the top of the fourth when Tony Horton's bases loaded double scored a pair of runs.

Willie Horton hit his third home run of the year into the rightfield stands after Cash singled in the fifth.

The Tigers have today off but meet the Yankees for a three-game series in New York starting Saturday. Earl Wilson will pitch for Detroit with rookie Bill Burbach on the mound for the Yankees.

at their annual spring meeting at Hermansville in March. Wood presented the award in place of last year's Coach of the Year, Jim Daniels of Wakefield, who was unable to attend the affair.

In presenting the award to Krysiak, Wood said, "I'm disappointed for Bob, his family and the Menominee fans that he didn't receive this award before. He deserved it before this."

Wood and Carl Backstrom, the Junior Varsity coach, introduced their teams and special recognition was given to the senior players, Steve Nelson, Mark Weber, John Watson, Eric Treichel, Bob Carlson and David Livermore.

Dave Cade, head basketball coach at Michigan Tech University, was the guest speaker for the evening and spoke on sportsmanship in athletics and gave his definition of a good sport.

"Sportsmanship is the obligation that an individual athlete has to give his all to defeat his opponent according to the rules. The only way to learn athletics is to play them."

Lakers Trounce Hawks; Extend Playoff Margin

ATLANTA (AP) — The New York Knicks' battle with the Boston Celtics will be followed closely tonight by the Los Angeles Lakers.

The Atlanta Hawks aren't very interested.

The Lakers virtually nailed down the National Basketball Association's Western Division crown Thursday night by whipping the Hawks 100-85.

The victory enabled the Lakers to take a 3-1 lead in their best-of-7 series and they can wrap it up by winning the fifth game in Los Angeles Sunday.

Los Angeles Coach Bill van Breda Kolff refused to claim the division title but he did admit the triumph in Atlanta was "a very big one for us."

"I don't think we're over the hump yet. You never think that," he said, "until the last game is won."

Atlanta Coach Richie Guerin said, "We're in a difficult spot, trailing 3-1 and going to Los Angeles."

The Celtics also are counting on the home-court edge tonight when they try to clinch the Eastern Division title by beating the Knicks.

The Celtics lead in the series 3-2, although the Knicks won their last battle in New York.

Van Breda Kolff points out, however, that neither the Western or the Eastern crowns have been decided yet.

"Nobody is going to claim the title until it's won," he said.

However, the Lakers' coach was elated about beating Atlanta after an erratic start.

"Both teams played like college teams in their first tournament he said. 'I don't know how many times we lost the ball without getting a shot, and so did Atlanta.'"

The low-scoring battle finally was broken open in the last seven minutes, when the Lakers scored 38 points.

Wilt Chamberlain and Jerry West led the outburst, including a surge in which the Lakers scored 12 straight points and turned a 73-70 deficit into an 82-73 lead.

"Wilt blocked a few shots. West made a few steals, and we finally got rolling," Van Breda Kolff said.

Chamberlain wound up with 25 points and 19 rebounds and West scored 22 points.

Lou Hudson scored 22 for the Hawks, and Zelmo Beaty got 18. But Joe Caldwell was held scoreless, Walt Hazzard scored only five and Bill Bridges was limited to seven.

Central League Fetes Athletes

By PAUL BLEWETT

BARK RIVER — Over 200 basketball players, coaches and cheerleaders from the Central League Conference attended the annual banquet and awards ceremony held Thursday night in the Bark River-Harris Elementary School.

Students representing Big Bay de Noc, Rapid River, Rock, Perkins, Eben, Trenary and Bark River-Harris heard Coach James Henderson of Bay de Noc Community College review Bay's basketball season and the challenge of setting up a college basketball program.

Henderson stated that the most important goal for all athletes is academic achievement. He stressed the importance of high morals, self-discipline and pride.

"A ball player is only as good as he thinks he is," Henderson said. "He must constantly work at his improving his skills, but he must believe in himself. He cannot expect team members, the coach or others to respect him if he does not first respect himself."

Julian VanDeCaveye of Perkins High School announced the 1969 All-Conference team and presented the awards. Named to the All-Conference first team were Bill Hartman of Big Bay de Noc, Paul McNutt and Joe Couillard of Perkins, Tom Ray of Bark River-Harris and Tom Lippens of Rock. Landing second team berths were Greg Begovac and Tim Harris of Trenary, Alex Freberg and Dan Maki of Eben and Clint Safford of Rapid River.

Dave Pelletier, basketball coach at Big Bay de Noc, presented awards to Perkins as the conference basketball champions, to Rapid River as the Junior Varsity champs and cross-country victors and to Clint Safford as the conference free throw champion. Bill Hartman was also presented a certificate honoring him as the all-team selection on the All-U.P. Class D team.

Bruins Blank Canadiens In Stanley Cup Playoffs

By The Associated Press

Jacques Plante's Stanley Cup goaltending magic has begun to rub off on Boston's Gerry Cheevers—while Plante concentrates on setting up scoring plays for the soaring St. Louis Blues.

Cheevers brushed aside 34 Montreal shots Thursday night and Phil Esposito triggered the Bruins' attack with two goals and three assists in a 5-0 shutout victory over the Montreal Canadiens.

The victory vaulted the Bruins back into contention in their National Hockey League East Division final playoff series after a pair of sudden-death setbacks at Montreal.

Plante, who tied Turk Broda's playoff record of 13 shutouts by blanking Los Angeles 4-0 Tuesday night in the opener of the West Division finals, became the second goalie ever to record an assist in Cup play as the Blues edged the Kings 3-2.

The Bruins, down 2-1 in their best-of-7 set, entertain Montreal again Sunday afternoon. St. Louis takes its 2-0 advantage over the Kings to Los Angeles for Saturday night's third game.

"That was really Stanley Cup goaltending," Boston Coach Harry Sinden exclaimed after Cheevers' acrobatics helped end the Canadiens' skein of successive playoff victories at 11. "He had a great glove tonight. He really hit it moving."

Montreal captured the Cup last year by sweeping its last five games—four of them against St. Louis in the finals. The Canadiens also ousted New York in four straight to move into this year's showdown with Boston.

Esposito, who didn't pick up a point in the two playoff games at Montreal after setting an all-time regular season record of 126, broke loose on home ice. The rangy center scored a first-period goal, set up Ed Westfall's marker in the middle period and hit for a power play goal early in the finale before assisting on wrap-up tallies by Ron Murphy and Ken Hodge.

Gary Sabourin's second goal of the game, with less than six minutes to play, snapped a 2-2 tie at St. Louis. Plante earned an assist on Sabourin's second period tally with a long pass from the crease to Larry Keenan, who relayed to Sabourin in front of the Los Angeles cage. Toronto's Johnny Bower, who picked up an assist in the 1963 playoffs, was the only other goaltender to make the postseason scoresheet.

Red Berens, who had the hat trick in the Blues' Tuesday victory, scored again in the first period and assisted on the winning goal. Defenseman Dave Amadio and Bryan Campbell connected for the Kings.

Drop Sentence On Schoolmarm

MADISON HEIGHTS (AP) — Schoolteacher Nancy Timbrook received a suspended sentence in court Wednesday night on a charge of writing an obscene, four-letter word on the blackboard in her high school classroom.
Mrs. Timbrook, who resigned her teaching post Monday, said after the hearing in Madison Heights Municipal Court that "I don't know what I'll do now. I'm just waiting for whatever it is that God wants me to do."
The 36-year-old woman pleaded guilty in March to the charge, which stemmed from a classroom discussion on the four-letter word.
She was suspended from teaching duties at Madison Heights Lamphere High School after the incident.
Police Lt. William Sloan, the father of two of her pupils, filed the misdemeanor charge, saying she violated a city ordinance by using the "vile term for sexual intercourse." Maximum sentence for the charge is a $500 fine and 90 days in jail.
Mrs. Timbrook, who says she is devoutly religious, said she put the word on the blackboard for educational purposes and to discuss its relevance and usage in modern society.
In a letter to the judge about education and life's meaning, Mrs. Timbrook said the word was dirty and she wanted to emphasize that point to her students.
At the hearing, Judge Edward Lawrence lectured her on the need for "responsible teaching practices."
Suspended from active teaching after the incident, Mrs. Timbrook said she resigned Monday and told officials "I was to be free to glorify God. I want to do more than save the conscience of hypocrites."
She said she has received favorable letters from all over the world.

Scholle Backing Guaranteed Wage For Farmers

LANSING (AP) — August Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, Thursday said he supported a guaranteed annual wage for farmers.
Appearing before the House Labor Committee, Scholle said "the AFL-CIO and its membership is not adverse to paying taxes to provide equity and decency for people in any pursuit, regardless of what it is."
"And I am of the opinion that the plight of a small farmer has to be considered and has to be underwritten by government just the same as anyone else," he said.
Scholle appeared before the committee to back legislation providing a minimum wage for migrant workers.
Scholle was asked if he would support guaranteed annual wage for farmers after Rep. Joseph Swallow, R-Alpena, predicted that rising labor costs for migrant workers could drive small, marginal farmers out of business.
Scholle also said he would back legislation to retain farmers who are displaced by rising costs.

Drop Sentence On Schoolmarm

MADISON HEIGHTS (AP) — Schoolteacher Nancy Timbrook received a suspended sentence in court Wednesday night on a charge of writing an obscene, four-letter word on the blackboard in her high school classroom.
Mrs. Timbrook, who resigned her teaching post Monday, said after the hearing in Madison Heights Municipal Court that "I don't know what I'll do now. I'm just waiting for whatever it is that God wants me to do."
The 36-year-old woman pleaded guilty in March to the charge, which stemmed from a classroom discussion on the four-letter word.
She was suspended from teaching duties at Madison Heights Lamphere High School after the incident.
Police Lt. William Sloan, the father of two of her pupils, filed the misdemeanor charge, saying she violated a city ordinance by using the "vile term for sexual intercourse." Maximum sentence for the charge is a $500 fine and 90 days in jail.
Mrs. Timbrook, who says she is devoutly religious, said she put the word on the blackboard for educational purposes and to discuss its relevance and usage in modern society.
In a letter to the judge about education and life's meaning, Mrs. Timbrook said the word was dirty and she wanted to emphasize that point to her students.
At the hearing, Judge Edward Lawrence lectured her on the need for "responsible teaching practices."
Suspended from active teaching after the incident, Mrs. Timbrook said she resigned Monday and told officials "I was to be free to glorify God. I want to do more than save the conscience of hypocrites."
She said she has received favorable letters from all over the world.

Scholle Backing Guaranteed Wage For Farmers

LANSING (AP) — August Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, Thursday said he supported a guaranteed annual wage for farmers.
Appearing before the House Labor Committee, Scholle said "the AFL-CIO and its membership is not adverse to paying taxes to provide equity and decency for people in any pursuit, regardless of what it is."
"And I am of the opinion that the plight of a small farmer has to be considered and has to be underwritten by government just the same as anyone else," he said.
Scholle appeared before the committee to back legislation providing a minimum wage for migrant workers.
Scholle was asked if he would support guaranteed annual wage for farmers after Rep. Joseph Swallow, R-Alpena, predicted that rising labor costs for migrant workers could drive small, marginal farmers out of business.
Scholle also said he would back legislation to retain farmers who are displaced by rising costs.
